

Ralph Bernstein
EPRI
Palo Alto, CA
rbernste@epri.com

Disaster Mitigation and Response in the Energy Industry Abstract

A disaster response decision support system is being developed by EPRI as part of the Disaster Planning and Mitigation Technologies Target. This system will provide computer aided disaster decision support system for system operators to support resource allocation, crew dispatch planning, status reporting and customer, government, and media communications.